REMARKABLE ESCAPE FROM DEATH.
A PROBLEM FOR THE DOCTORS.

The Rochester (New York) Democrat announces the arrival in that city of Col. D. R.
Anthony, of Leavenworth, Kansas, who was almost mortally wounded about four months since by a pistol shot fired by Emory, the editor of the Leavenworth Appeal. The Democrat says:

There are many things connected with Col.
Anthony's case, which are of public interest, and hence it was that a reporter of the Democrat and Chronicle called upon that gentleman last evening. He was found at the residence of his sister, Miss Susan B. Anthony. Our representative was cordially received by Miss Anthony, and by her introduced to the Colonel.
He was reclining upon a couch in a cozy little sitting room, about him were gathered several of his relatives and friends.

Notwithstanding the fact that Col. Anthony has been so near death's door, his face and figure show no emaciation. He is a tall, finely formed man, and appears to be the embodiment of manly strength. It will be remembered that the bullet which gave his wound severed the main artery of the right breast. It was thought for a long time impossible for him to recover.
The majority of the surgeons in Kansas advised ligation, but Dr. Gross, the celebrated surgeon of Philadelphia, recommended compression.
Following this advice two surgeons stood over Colonel Anthony for ten weeks, alternating every other hour, compressing the artery with the finger. The compression was removed two weeks ago. On inquiry of our reporter as to the present condition of the wound Colonel Anthony said:

"Well, Eastern doctors do not agree with those out of our way in relation to the nature of the wound. I should think I was visited by at least twenty surgeons, some of them noted in their profession, and they all agreed that the artery only was cut. Yet Dr. Gross, his son and Dr. Agnew, all celebrated surgeons of Philadelphia, give me another theory. Dr.
Moore, of this city, by whom I was examined to-day, explained my case exactly as they did.
These gentlemen say that the subclavian vein is also cut, and that the blood passing through this aperture from the artery to the vein is returned immediately to the heart. The scientific name given this case by the surgeons is arterio-venous aneurism. The difference in the opinion of the Western surgeons was that it was simply an arterial aneurism. One surgeon only in Kansas differed from the rest, and he said it was an aneurism varix.

Reporter.—How does this theory of our Eastern surgeons affect the probability of entire recovery?
Col. Anthony.—It renders it more doubtful.
The case is one which can be reached by no medical treatment, and no surgical operation can be of any avail, save ligation, which all oncologists should not be undertaken, except as a test resort in the attempt to save life. It is, however, a question of time.

At this juncture Colonel Anthony requested our reporter to place his ear against his breast when the rushing sound of the blood, forced by the pulsation of the heart through the aperture in the artery, could be distinctly heard. It sounded not unlike the noise of the working of a steamer at a distance.

"Two weeks ago," the colonel continued,
"the compression was removed and then I first began to hear that sound. I commenced eating as usual about that time, and have gained at the rate of a pound a day since then. I now weigh 157 pounds. My former weight was 186.
The jar of the journey did not injure me in the least so far as I can see, and in fact I feel much better than when I left home. There is, of course, an unusual feeling in my breast arising from the movement of the blood through the aperture. The heaviest comparison I can make is that it feels like a heavy palpitation. Of course at times it makes me very nervous. There is no other case like it in the country. Cases of aneurism are very rare.
There are but a dozen or so in the United States."

We find in the Staunton Spectator, the following sensible notice:
"Wanted in the State of Virginia alone—about five hundred base ball players to go to work at shoemaking, mauling rills, or any other sensible or useful business."

A girl has been expelled from one of the public schools of San Francisco for stealing books, which she sold to obtain money for the purchase of flogery.

[From Rev. E. T. Baird, Secretary of Publication of Presbyterian Church South.]
RICHMOND, July 27, 1874.
The Xanthine is the only hair dressing I have ever used which has removed the dandruff from the scalp and made my hair soft and pliable.
It has also restored my hair to its natural color; and by occasionally using it as a hair dressing, I have no doubt it will preserve the color.
E. T. BAIRD.

[From Rev. Charles H. Head, D. D., Pastor
Grace street Presbyterian Church.]
RICHMOND, July 20, 1874.
At the suggestion and presentation of a friend, I have used one bottle of Prof. Hertz's Hair Restorative, "Xanthine." It has accomplished in a very brief time and without any perceptible unpleasant or injurious effects, all that is claimed for it as a restorer of the natural color of hair turning gray.
CHAS. H. HEAD.

[From J. W. Lockwood, Cashier, National Bank of Virginia.]
RICHMOND, Va., June 25, 1874.
Dear Sir—I used on my hair about one third of a bottle of the Xanthine, and the result has been its restoration to its original color.
J. W. LOCKWOOD.

To the Proprietor of the "Xanthine." I have occasionally used your compound, known as "Xanthine," with results perfectly satisfactory as to cleaning the scalp, strengthening the hair and restoring its color.
Respectfully yours,
